Editor's Message

Welcome to Issue 8. It contains the usual, plus a piece taken from a TAMS article on encased that was published in 1988. Only about a third of the article is featured in issue 8. The remainder will be put in issue 9 and 10. If you have never seen this article I am sure you will enjoy it. It is very informative and gives information on how the encased got started as well as examples of the many different kinds of encased not only in shapes but also in denominations. All of us would love to have these examples that Michael L. Kolman shares in his article in our own collections.

Also known Chevy pieces by state again is listed. This is a contribution from Jim Hemphill (ACE #3) and Joel Reznick (ACE #29). Many ACE members look forward to this listing. In fact several have asked to buy past issues because of the Chevy listings. I recently had some more Journal/Newsletters made and they are available while the supply last at $1.00 each plus postage. Just indicate what issues you want and I will send you them with cost due which will include postage. All proceeds will go toward the printing cost and any excess will go into the ACE treasury.

Featured on the cover of this issue is a political encased that was issued in behalf of the Busch campaign. These are plastic with a white background and blue and red letters. I believe the pieces had a pin taped to the reverse so they could be worn like a pin back. Cost of these are between $3. and $6. for they are somewhat desirable because of the political theme and encased coin. I am currently writing to the manufacturer to see if they accept orders for producing a coin club encased. I will let the ACE membership know if anything materializes for several members want to get an encased made but cost seems to high for the traditional Aluminum encased perhaps these plastic pieces can be produced cheaper.

Here's another idea to make a cheaper encased. Recently I had some wooden nickels made for the Kenosha Coin Club which commemorates the Numismatist's of Wisconsin annual coin show which is being hosted by the Kenosha Coin Club. The show is Sunday, May 18. The wooden nickels were then drilled and made for a coin so you might say they now are wooden encased coins. These were made for less than $250. which includes the Unc 1960 Lincoln cents. (The year NOW originated). However total labor was close to 18 hours for each piece had to be placed on a drill press after being clamped by a drill press vice. A board was placed under the wooden nickel with a width less then the wooden nickel. Equal pressure was applied. A 3/4 " Forstner bit was used and the drill press was set at a dept of a few millimeters. In this way the cent can only be seen from one side of the wooden nickel. These are available to ACE members at $1.00 plus a SASE and checks should be made out to the Kenosha Coin Club. By the way in the drilling process about 100 plus split but the club still has about 800 to 900 to sell at the show.

I had a chance to meet about eight ACE members at the March Collectible show in Chicago. The show was a success with a nice crowd on Saturday and average number of dealers. I also had a chance to hear Bryan Ryker at Central States. He talked on the Fankhauser encased and the Penny Man. It was a good program. After the program ACE held its second annual meeting and again I had a chance to meet some more ACE members. There were about 10 in attendance. There were some excellent suggestions which will be discussed in detail later in the Casement.

Also, in this issue member profile is on Wisconsin collector/dealer Phil Bressett, ACE #50. Be sure to check this out. As well as a contribution by Dale Ward (ACE #90) on another attempt of an electrocution of an elephant like the Pam Am episode.

And finally, the club auction in issue 7 was a success. There were 125 lots offered from 4 consignors which attracted 20 bidders who submitted 298 bids. Thirteen lots did not receive a bid. Four lots were reduced according to auction rules and four lots had tie bids. The bidder success rate was 41.9%. Gross sales were $364.58. Lot 124 received 8 bids and lots 113, 115, and 120 received 7 bids. Look at the auction in this issue, remember there is no buyer's fee and there is no consignor's fees and minimum bids are permitted. Hope you will participate and do enjoy issue 8 and again feel free to contribute an article or a paragraph in an upcoming issue.

New Maverick Listing

Members are encouraged to send encased mavericks to the editor but not more than 50 at a time. Please do not send encased that have a slim chance of being attributed. General business chains, banks, with generic headings, etc. However, business chains can be sent where there is a chance of a home office, in a case like this the State and city of the home office could be considered the place for attribution.

When sending your list of mavericks send a description and include all information on both sides, as well as the composition of the encased, size, shape, coin denomination and date of coin. If you don't care to send the list you may send the encasements. Package securely and include a check or stamps to cover return postage and insurance indicating the value you desire.

Keep in mind that members may want to contact the owner of a particular piece. So if you want your name and address to appear or to be shared if any inquiry should occur indicate that as well. Several members have inquired about wanting to buy, sometimes owner is unknown or I didn't keep a record of ownership or the piece is not for sale so a no reply indicates one of the above.

Mavericks are numbered and grouped with the first two letters of the surname or major topic. Each letter group will have its own set of numbers and each piece will also be numbered according to the order received. Also, the issue number has been added for easier future reference.

A maverick has no indication of town and/or state on the encasement and in some cases even lacks the name of the issuing business or subject.

Letters From Members

I received my first issue of The Casement and enjoyed it very much. As former editor of the NJES bulletin Jerseyana, I know about the hard work involved in putting out a club publication and congratulate you on the superb job your doing with The Casement.

Listed are some mavericks that I have been able to attribute. In the future, I believe that positive reference should be furnished for all attributions should not belisted as such.

" NA-1 (153)-Nat'l Lead Co-Babit. This company has over 30 different sales offices and plants in the U.S. , therefore it should be attributed to N.Y. City, the location of their general offices. Reference, Thomas Register of American Mfrs.

CR-2 (172) - Crawford ewelers, 2648 Germantown Ave. Listed in the Phila. Pa phone book, with the Germantown Ave, address. The "and/or Memphis, Tn." should be deleted. This dual attribution shows no logic."

Hi!

Saw your ad in NATCA. I have been collecting Hawaii encased cents for 50 years. Enclosed is $7.00 to join your club. I have lots of other states, but haven't the faintest idea what there'er worth? Any catalog available?

Thanks, Gerald Kwock

"Feb. Issue under mavericks NE-3 (197) 7 Newcomerstown, Ohio celebrated its Sesquicentennial 1814 to 1964 and issued a good for municipal trade token good for 50c so I'm sure the encased is from their."

Berger, (ACE #56)

"First of all I do enjoy each issue of "The Casement". I learn something new each time. Keep up the good work. Let me attribute the following: Me-4(190)7 Mel's 9.99 Clothes/569 Main St., Flint + Kent's...

Flint and Kent's was a major Dept. Store in Buffalo, N.Y. It has gone out of business about 20-25 years ago. I know since I lived in Buffalo, N.Y. at that time. Mel's 2nd location was in another part opf town. Braodway was in the Polish neighborhood. Best Regards "

Lou Small

"On the attributed mavericks, I've enclosed positive attribution on CR-2 (172) Crawford Jewelers. Dick Grinold's letter noted that some type of proof should be utilized and I agree with him.

I 've enclosed a positive ID for CR-2 (172). This piece is definetely from Philadelphia and not from Memphis, TN. Also, there is no Germantown Ave. in Memphis, only Road and Square, so please correct this item."

Herman Aqua

"Every issue of The Casement gets better, thanks.

I hope the Encasement Collectors will try to get together at the National Token and Medal Show in Omaha, Aug. 30 & 31. I attend the big coin shows and find very little fair priced exonomia. The token people should support each other. Keep up the good work and extend me for another year."

Larry Oller

"Now I have too many encased to put away.(Auction 7) I was at the ANA last week here in Cleveland, no encased to speak of-someone wanted $40 for an Unc. example of PAC-1! Doesn't look like I'll be able to make it to Indy. I have to go to NY on business that week."

James M. Lawniczak

"Enclosed is my M.O. for another year of The Casement. I always enjoy each newsletter very much. Keep up the good work.

I have a maverick that I've had 10 years or more. Would like to know a little more about. Remember the 999 Store, 800 N. Broadway, 1907, RD. Rev.-Lucky Penny Pocket Piece/I Bring Good Luck.

Pieces such as brass,steel, plastic are these pieces rarer then the Al. pieces? "

Jack Teeter (ACE #73)

"Bryan Ryker gave me your name and address over the computer and has mentioned that you are involved with an organization that has to do with encased coins.

I am very interested in then and have collected them for 25 years or so. With the exception of Bryan I have never met anyone who collects them--also, infact, most people I meet don't even think about them or have any idea that anyone collects them.

I believe your organization is called "ACE" (I forget exactly what the initials stand for) but I would like to join. Enclosed is my check for $7.00 which is what Bryan said is the dues. And I'll be very pleased to receive your quarterly journal." Thank you, Sincerely,

Ken Humberston

"Thank you for your good work, it is very much appreciated. I am proud to be a new member of ACE.

Johnny L. Satterlee

"ACE is the Place, If You Love the Encased"

Vic Nolan (ACE #18)

"Enclosed is payment for membership renewal.

Keep up the great effort with A.C.E. and "The Casement". The hard work in the Journal/Newsletter really shows. Job well done! Thank You."

Irving Kam

"Thanks for the reminder - I was a bit confused about dues date. I thought the No. 7 meant July.

From now on I'll pay ACE dues in Dec. each year which is when I pay dues to the six other organizations I belong to.

I enjoy The Casement and each read is a learning experience. Best Regards,

Ginnie Aldridge (ACE # 65)

Potpourri/Information

From Dale N. Ward (ACE #90)

My ink pen has thawed out enough to contribute the following item to perhaps share with our ACE Readers:

In the fine articles that James Lawniczak has provided on encased cents of the 1901 Pan-American Exposition, he asked and then answered the question of what became of an elephant that was subjected to electrocution as a publicity stunt during the last days of the Expo. Fortunately, the Pan-Am elephant escaped harm during the effort.

A similar execution was attempted later in 1904 at the height of Coney Island's popularity. At Luna Park, the last word in Coney Island glitz, Topsy the elephant, who had killed 3 visitors-including one who fed her a lighted cigarette-had to be disposed of. She survived carrots laced with poison and a hanging was ruled out by public protest. So Thomas Edison, whose lights lit Coney Island, offered to prove the power of his alternating current. Charging admission to the execution, Edison attached electrodes to Topsy and threw the switch. Smoke billowed from the elephant's body. In a few seconds the poor animal toppled and fell dead.

I guess Thomas Edison knew exactly what he was doing or the knowledge of electricity in general had advanced considerably since 1901.

An ACE member would like to know more about the Haas Hog remedy encased, described and shown via a rubbing. 1902 Indian Cent, Horseshoe (HS), Keep Me And Never Go Broke, I Bring, Good Luck//Jos. Jim Hartman (ACE # 40) sent a photo copy of encased large cent dated 1851 - it reads:-Berkshire Life Insurance Co. Inc. 1851- 1936 1851-Pittsfield, Mass. 1936//Eighty-five Years Of Security and Service to Policyholders. ACE Meeting at Central States-The following were discussed and voted upon:

1. List the prices realized of the member's auction in The Casement.
2. Suggested putting together an ACE membership application with pictures of encased coins on it. This should be a separate leaflet which members could use and put out on the freebie table at coin shows in their respective areas.
3. Suggested keeping a list of ACE's "standard conventions" and publishing a list of them every so often in The Casement, the numbering convention and the convention for documenting inscriptions. The club accepted the Bryan Ryker system of numbering and documenting. More details will given on these two areas in the next issue. The maverick section will adopt this system in future issues.
4. Publish all ACE members e-mail addresses for those who wish. If interested kindly send the editor yours.
5. Publish the newsletter/journal six times a year. Editor will get an e-mail address which will enable on line members to send additional information to merit the increase in publications. Look for this in 1988.
6. Suggested having an official abbreviation for every city as they come up. List a group in each issue and keep an "official" listing, expanding on the ones listed in the Ryker system. (The convention for two-part names is to take the first letter of the first part, and then the two most significant letters of the second. For example, Fort Wayne = FWA, Saint Louis=SLU, South Euclid, Ohio is OH-SEU. (States will be always given first using the postal service abbreviations) Three-part names will also use the Ryker system which uses the first letter of all 3. (Saint Clair Shores, Michigan is MI-SCS. Again, more on this in future issues. ACE members will also have a chance to give opinions and to improve on suggested listing before becoming official.
7. Passed out wooden encased cents to members present and invited attendance to NOW.
8. Hold meetings at Central States as well as other areas when possible, Nebraska, Chicago, ANA etc.
9. Need state representatives for updating known encased. These then could be sent to the editor for inclusion in the future book of all known encased in the U.S.
10. Need maverick coordinator, membership coordinator, classified coordinator, auction manager to assist editor as issues are expanded. More on this down the road.
11. Need maverick proof, or list as probable and positive.
12. Encourage more articles by members, especially wanted are short articles about the business places of a known encased.
13. Adapt a ACE logo.

More on Replacement Cents in Encased by Jim Lawniczak

Thanks for printing the article on replacement cents in encasements. I just wanted to be sure everyone was aware that this is a serious problem. There are a lot especially on the Indian cent encasements.

For example, I have bought 5 empty Pae-1s. This is the 1901 Buffalo Pan American Exposition encased with the clover on the front. I paid $1 each for four of them and $2 for one (that was before I got smart and reduced my price). Let's say someone buys several VF 1901 Indian cents for $1.50 each. You should get the idea what a Pae-1 with a replaced cent is worth (around $2.50). It's not a bargain even at $5 or $6, which sure seems cheap for an Indian encased.

A replaced cent encasement is equivalent to Major damage on a coin that has been repaired.

The following is taken from TAMS, Encased Coins by Michael L. Kolman, June 1988, Volume 28, Number 3, used with permission. The first of three installments. Interesting introduction and many fine examples of various denominations and shapes. Most of these encased pictured demand a premium especially when in higher grade. Many are rare and very seldom surface in mail bids or at exnumia shows. Here's hoping you find some and can buy some at a resonable price. Do you have any already? If so, share with ACE the how, the when and the where you obtained one or more.

Encased Coins

by Michael L. Kolman

The idea of encasing coins in frames with advertising probably owes its origin to the encased postage stamps issued during the Civil War. During the early part of the war, coin hoarding became so prevalent that merchants resorted to using postage stamps for small change. Due to their fragile nature, the stamps quickly became soiled and worn. An early attempt at solving this problem was to put them in envelopes and thus lengthen their life. This proved impractical since each person who was given an envelope had to reopen it to verify its contents.

John Gault's idea was to encase stamps in round brass frames and cover the stamps with clear pieces of mica; the resultant product would resemble coins. He first went to the government and proposed that, to cover the cost of the frames, he be sold stamps at a discount. This request was refused, so his next move was to solicit merchants to pay for advertising on the backs of the frames. Although his idea had merit, sales were slim, and hence encased postage stamps are rare today.

During this same period merchants started using Civil War tokens. The idea of making a token which resembled a cent and circulated as a cent (and also included the advertisement of the issuing merchant) quickly became very popular. Eventually the widespread usage of these tokens was curtailed by restrictive laws.

Of course tokens continued to be struck, but with the demise of the Civil War token a great era was gone until, about 1900, when a whole new idea was born again.

I have mentioned John Gault's invention as a possibility for the idea of the encased coin, and I have brought up Civil War tokens, which were circulated in huge numbers, to show a comparison to the thousands of different encased Indian and Lincoln cents which have been issued.

Much has been written about encased postage stamps and, indeed, if a new variety were to surface it would be a major event. The same holds true for Civil War tokens. In contrast, encased coins remain practically a virgin field for collectors and researchers. Hence the reason for this article. Hopefully it will result in new discoveries being reported, and perhaps more collectors will become interested in this specialty.

Early encased coins were usually encased in aluminum rings, but other materials such as cardboard, wood, and hard rubber were also used. Later, pieces were also made with brass, plastic, leather pouches, and lucite embedments; other combinations probably also exist.

One way of collecting pieces is by type of coin; in addition to the common Indian and Lincoln cents, they were issued with large cents, nickels, dimes, quarters, half dollars, and dollars. A few rare types were even made with gold coins. There are also many with Canadian and other foreign coins. Another collecting possibility is by city or state. Unlike Civil War tokens, encasements come from all states and a great number of large and small cities.

When did this era start? Of course no one knows for sure, but for now I will say that the encased coin started on 18 April 1896, with a most novel card issued by Geo. H. Foley, a Philadelphia merchant, to advertise his agency for Remington bicycles. This 3 x 4½ inch card, with its slogan "Money makes the wheels go around" depicts a bicycle, with two Indian head cents inset for wheels. The date, "Apr 18 - '96" is penned on the back of the card.

Geo. H. Foley, a Philadelphia merchant who operated The Foley Cycle House, issued this rare advertising card in 1896. Two Indian cents are encased for the bicycle's wheels.

What a great idea — encase coins in a business card! Few people keep a business card, but put coins in it and not only does it become an eye catcher but nobody throws good money away, so the card will be kept. Today this card would fit nicely in many categories of exnumia. Collectors of Pennsylvania, and especially Philadelphia, items would want it, as would collectors of bicycle or gun exnumia (as the card says, Remington bicycles were manufactured by the Remington Arms Co. of Ilion, New York). Researchers might enjoy walking down to 911 Walnut Street to see what stands there today. Who knows, just maybe the Foley Cycle House still exists!

In more than twenty years of collecting encasements I have never found or heard of a duplicate of the Foley card, but with the printing of this article perhaps more will turn up. I'm sure hundreds of them were made, but also I'm sure a large number were destroyed; after all, what boy would want to keep one when those two cents would buy a whole handful of jaw breakers.

Manufacturers of advertising novelties soon came up with the idea of encasing cents in aluminum frames. The cent served as an eye catcher, and the frame provided space for the merchant's advertisement. And, since it was harder to get the cent out of an aluminum frame than a cardboard advertisement, it was more likely to be kept. Unfortunately, over the years I have seen many empty encasements, so I'm afraid that with the invention of the gumball machine, etc., many of these pieces were lost forever. Also, with the coming of the 1929-1933 depression, a lot of people that had kept the old encasements as souvenirs and good luck pieces, took a second look and decided a loaf of bread looked better.

Many encasements have, in addition to advertisements on one side, legends such as "keep me and never go broke" or "keep me I am your mascot" on the other side. With the chamber pot shaped encasements, the legend might be "a pot full of money" or "go way back and sit down." Those issues of banks frequently refer to "luck" or "thrift." Such sayings were added inducements for possessors of the pieces to keep them.

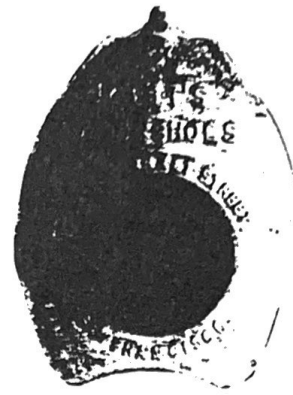

Having given this brief introduction to the fascinating field of encasements, the remainder of this article will be devoted to illustrating and describing many of the different types of encased coins.

Illustrated here are some of the "standard" shapes of encased Indian cents. For general information I should mention that most encased cents in this category are worth in the $15 to $25 range. Naturally there are many variables which could make a piece worth less or much more.

These "Half Cents" are very unusual. The two Milwaukee Harvester Co. pieces illustrated below have different size lettering. Some collectors may be interested to know that there are quite a few varieties such as this. Also, some issuers used a round encasement one time and a different shape another time. Or, some pieces were issued with an Indian cent, and later with a Lincoln cent.

Another variety of St. Louis World's Fair. Very few Indian cents were used in bell shaped encasements.

These cents were set off-center in their encasements. One advertises Worcester Salt, and the other is an issue of mayoral candidate Edwin Fiske.

Member Profile

The member profile for the May, 1997 issue is no other then fellow Wisconsin collector, dealer and friend Phil Bressett (ACE #50). Just like in the case of Ken Griffey Jr. being influenced by a famous father so it is with Phil but instead of baseball its numismatics and exonomia. Phil's father is an author, a professional numismatists and present ANA President Ken Bressett.

As Phil and I traveled to Indy for the 1997 Spring Central States Convention we not only solved the world's problems but our discussion for a good majority of the time revolved around our hobby so I thought what would be better then to focus on Phil and thus the article.

As I mention in the first paragraph Phil was influenced, educated and introduced to numismatics by his mother and father. Phil remembers as a five year old when his father helped with the photographs for the book Penny Whimsy and how being exposed to the U.S. large cent started his interest. Presently Phil helps his father with the Red Book, keeping track of trends, talking with dealers and staying abreast of the market. He also gives his Dad suggestions for the Blue Book and is always trying to make both books more collector friendly. Phil also related that he and his father had the opportunity to appraise a top shelf collection of U.S. coins which included some rarities one of which was an 1804 Silver Dollar. He also shared a story on how he was commissioned to bid on the rare 1913 Liberty nickel. He had the green light to go as high as $175,000 but the action moved ahead of that sum in quick fashion. This was some years ago so the six figure was competitive for a time.

Phil stated that he collected just about all the different areas of numismatics somewhere along the way. He likes U.S. large notes and is very knowledgeable in this area as well as U.S. Coins, especially early type, world coins, civil war tokens, exonomia (encased of course, badges, medals, good fors), ancient coins and coin books and literature. Phil is extremely proficient at detecting counterfeits and at grading coins. Many fellow coin club members like to go to Phil for his opinion on grading and authenticity.

When Phil was a child his family moved from New Hampshire to Racine, Wis. because his father took a job with Whitman publishing. Phil and his wife Carol still reside in Racine. They will most likely remain in Racine because he likes the changing seasons and most importantly Carol has all eight of her siblings living in the Racine area. Phil's brother also lives nearby so its one happy family and gatherings are common. Phil's dad and mother live in Colorado but he stated he keeps in close contact with his parents and sees them at many of the major shows.

Phil is a navy veteran who entered the service after graduating from Racine Park High School. He took classes at Gateway Technical College and the University of Wisconsin-Parkside and after a job in industry for a time he opened his own coin business and became a full time dealer in the mid 70's. Presently he runs the Viking Coin and Collectible shop which is located on 16th St. in Racine and his stock is made up of coins, exonomia and collector cards. His wife Carol is an RN at St. Marys Hospital in Racine.

Phil enjoys riding a motorcycle and stated his life pretty much revolves around coins, collector cards and collectors. He enjoys a friendly game of Poker and plays a monthly game with four or five coin dealers from the Racine and Milwaukee area. As a navy guy back in his younger days he would be the one wearing the lamp shade after a few hours into the festivities but now that he just turned forty he is mellow but fun loving. His wife says he is still full of surprises.

I can say that we had a great time at Central States. We took in two educational talks, one by Bryan Ryker who did a great job. We viewed the educational exhibits and walked the bourse floor buying, you guessed it, a few bank notes and several encased coins. I also had plenty of laughs tagging along with this months ACE member profile. It seemed that dealers across the U.S. knew Phil Bressett because at the Central States show every 20 feet it seemed as though someone was saying hi to him.

In ending, Phil enjoys all the areas of numismatics and currently belongs to many national organizations as well as 5 local coin clubs, Kenosha, Waukegan, Racine, South Shore and Milwaukee. He has been an officer including President with all of them at one time or another. He believes in education and thinks the hobby is headed in the right direction. Especially now because the leadership is in good hands. Will Phil ever run for a Board member for ANA and then a leadership role like his father? That is a possibility but not in the immediate future. Are any books in the offering for the future? Most likely not, that he says is his dads love. "I just like to own them, read them and satisfy my curiosity. I dislike writing letters so it is safe to say a book is not going to happen. I do appreciate the hard work that is involved because I see my father and all his efforts."
